MAGNIFICA HUMANITAS, Pope Leo XIV's first encyclical touches on many issues. The one which has received most attention in the May 30th issue of the publication The Economist is this on page 54:

“Imperfections are integral to humanity, Leo argues, which ‘flourishes not despite its limitations, but often through them’. Here the pope is at his most fervent: ‘we carry within us lessons that leave their mark like scars, the memory of a journey shaped by freedom and failure ... The nub is that humanity – in all its grandeur and woundedness – must never be replaced or surpassed.’”

WHAT IS AN ENCYCLICAL?

It is a letter from a pope which is intended for extensive circulation.
